

Little Red Elephant

One day a little elephant was walking down by the sea when it went red. He didn't care. He jumped into the sea and became a little red elephant. When he went home all of the normal elephant's ran for their lives. One ran straight through the door without opening it.

A weird elephant ran straight into a rock hard wall and knocked himself out for one minute. He got up and ran straight into another door without opening it. The little red elephant had a bath and washed all the red off. He was a normal little elephant again.

Elephant

Big fat

Stomping falling smashing

Running throw the jungle

Clever

Jack Cartwright

Nowendoc Public School