

The Very Weird Day

One day some red elephants fell from the sky and cast a magical charm and turned the sea yellow. Nobody knew how the elephants cursed the sea with that charm.

One of the elephants said “The only way to get rid of the charm is to learn magic in Beijing and talk to the headmaster Professor Magic. Then you will spend 5 years at his school of magic and you will be sorted into three magical families: Hellkeeper Murderer and Grave Yard. While you are there you will be boarding there so pack your things and go and learn some magic.”

The two boys said “How are we going to pay to get there? We also don’t have any tickets.”

The two boys names where George and Harry.

The elephant said “Don’t worry. It has all been paid and here are your tickets boys.”

“Ok. Thank you” said one of the boys. Both of the boys went and told their parents that they had to go to Beijing and the boy went to the school for five years.

Five years later: The boys had learned magic, got rid of that dreadful charm and were knighted Sir Harry and Sir Gorge.

James Callaghan Nowendoc Public School